AMERICAN THEATRE.

"The Prodigal Daughter" began its inth week at the American Theatre with the usual big house. The success of the steeplechase play is lasting. It is one of the greatest midsummer triumphs new York han ever known. The American's Roof Garden has the same eighteen stars that appeared there last week, with Magrie Cline. Lady Mansel, John Kernell, John W. Ransome and the wonderful Frantz family at the head of the list. They all had something new ast night, so that the performance was equal to a new bill. Maggie Cline sings live songs a night and John Kernell our or five, besides telling innumerable storles. Pretty Lilly Landon's "Queen of the Morn Dance," a companion piece to the golden moth dance, is new and bleased everybody. Jesse Williams's new orchestraal selection, in which a cocalist is shot dead for singing "Commades," was a novel surprise and made a big bit. The roof garden was literally macked with people.

MADISON SQUARE ROOF GARDEN.

Two new specialities were presented last night at the Madison Square Roof Garden. Miss Ella Wilson, a rather clever performer, gave a Chinese dance called "Tou-Ka-Doo," which was a novelty, and Edgar Foreman introduced as a feature in his character change act a spade dance. The reat of the bill was the same as that of last week, Manager Gottschalk having been so well satisfied with it that he retained the programme almost in its entirety. The Madison Square Roof Garden has become a favorite resort with people who want to be amused and at the same time amuse themselves these sultry nights. Stand-e was almost a complete change at the Casino Roof Garden last Eunice Vance, who has been a te in the music halls of London, ho was favorably received on her us visit to America, introduced i songs new to the country. "Big Frank," the boxing kangaroc, was substituted for Mile. Diamantine at Koster & Bial's last night, and it is needless to say made a hit, in fact, several of them. As a novelty "Big Frank" seemed to please. Charles Haydn, in new character impersonations; Lottle Collard, with a new budget of songs; Wood and Shepard, the Borani brothers, M. Dufour and Mile. Hartley, and the travesties, "La Belle Helene" and "The Admiral," furnished the rest of the endertainment. The attendance just now is the largest of the Summer season.

EDEN MUSEE.

At the Eden Musee last night, novelty was introduced in the way of a native Russian dance by five pretty girls.
They performed many unique evolutions new to this country, but familiar to the peasantry of the Czar's domains.
The Cossack dance contained a "stoop movement," which highly pleased the sudience. Mile. Zaida also made her first appearance as a "chanteuse comique," and won much applause. M. Delprade offered a new illusion, and Danko Gabor's Hungarian orchestra gave a delightful musical programme.

Austin Gibbons bit off just a trifle more than he could comfortably chew, last night when he essayed to stop Charley ("Bull") McCarthy, at the Shooting Park, South Orange, He originally announced he would attempt to stop Joe Harman and McCarthy in four rounds, each on the same night, but at the last moment was content to take on McCarthy alone. The incentive for "Mac" to stay, was a nice little bundle of cash, $150. An the "Bull," at the very outset, showed that he meant to grapple with that $150 and cling to it, too.

He got it, lasting the four rounds.

An echo, and an unpleasant one at that, of the recent 100-mile road race, between Newark and Princeton, is heard from the Kings County wheelmen, who are to protest the award of the special prize of a $700 plano to the Newark wheelmen. The Brooklyn "bikers" claim that of the thirty-two members finishing the run under the colors of the Newark Club, nearly half were members of other clubs, and were not legitimately enrolled in the Newark Club. Kings County wheelmen had seventeen members in at the finish, and claim the big prize, as being the club having the most members in at the end of the race, and that is what the piano was donated for. There is sure to be a bitter controversy over the matter.

White had the best of it up to the third round, when he injured both his hands, and after that was kept busy keeping Smith away from him. The other contests were interesting.

James Reilly, of Providence, defeated George Williams in a five-round go last night for a purse. Williams quit in the fifth round with a broken thumb.

There was no decision in the fourround contest between Con Riordan, the New York middle-weight, and Fred Woods, of Pniiadelphia, last night, but the general verdict was that Riordan had the best of the go. Riordan towered

"If Jem Carney wants to fight me, I will be ready to gratify his desire as soon as he can set some backing. Char-ley Mitchell and myself will sall for America together."

Harry Newmeler has posted $100 to light Lochie Thompson, the newly ar-rived Scotch champion light-weight, for $1,000 a side and "the largest purse." Of course, that "largest purse" clause has to figure. These $1,000 a side matches are getting fatiguing, especially when men of light calibre make the bluffs.
